You'll experience the charm of an authentic New England village, complete with a functioning drawbridge, a marina with pleasure and fishing boats, a harbour full of houseboats and science buildings that make Woods Hole look like a small college town. With various restaurants to choose from, lots of shops, scientific exhibits and a wonderful aquarium, the clever Vineyard-bound traveller leaves time for a stop in Woods Hole. First Timerhave have LOTS questions about the logistics of a trip to the vineyard, so here's everything you've ever wanted to know about getting to the island via Woods Hole: The primary ferry service to Marthas Vineyard is operated by a government agency called the Steamship Authority. Ferries for the Steamship Authority dock in Woods Hole, and in summer they serve two towns on the Vineyard – Oak Bluffs and Vineyard Haven. In low season ferries only go to Vineyard Haven. Ferries operate all day, at least once an hour from 6 a.m. and the last ferry at 10 p.m. The journey by ferry takes about 45 minutes. Check out the current ferry scheduleaccess to Marthas VineyardAnsplatz in Woods Hole are reserved only for visitors to Woods Hole. Those who drive to the vineyard have several parking options: Palmer Avenue Lot. The first car park closest to Woods Hole is on Palmer Avenue in Falmouth (about 5 km away). The Steamship Authority regularly runs shuttle buses from this property to Woods Hole in a timely manner. The journey takes about 10 minutes. Buses unload right in front of the ferry terminal. There are no tickets for the bus. Visit the Steamship Authority website to view parking charges and passenger fares. Gifford Street Lot. When the Palmer lot is full, you will be taken to Gifford Street Lot. Also in Falmouth, this property is about a 15-minute bus ride to the ferry terminal. Cataumet Lot. When both Falmouth car parks are full, you will be led (with signs on Route 28 South) to the Cataumet car park, which is a 20-minute bus ride to the ferry terminal. View Ferry Parking InformationVehicle rides to Martha's Vineyardvehicles that drive to Martha's Vineyard in high season, MUST have a car reservation. Vehicles are asked to check in, show proof of reservation and in the parking lot right next to the ferry terminal. If you are planning to visit Martha's Vineyard Island for just one or two days, it is probably best to leave your car in a parking lot in Woods Hole, drive the ferry as a passenger and use public transport on the island. In summer summer impossible to find a free, legal parking for a whole day or for accommodation. You must park your car in a Steamship Authority car park or a small private car park. (The Steamship Authority lots are simpler, though perhaps a little more expensive than the few small privately held lots.) The Steamship Authority has plenty of parking in Falmouth, which is connected to Woods Hole's Carferry Dock with free shuttle buses. Use them! More... For the latest information on ferries and parking, visit the Steamship Authority Mobile website or the full website. Or, if you're heading to Falmouth and Woods Hole, tune your car radio to the AM radio station, which appears on the signs you'll see as you approach Falmouth.
